SOMEWHERE NEW

Beach resorts are not the only places which are home to idyllic spa retreats. Tucked within the twisted valleys of Utah, the chic Amangiri hotel gives panoramic views across desert and canyons, and even incorporates a striking stone escarpment into its design.

Although the complex blends seamlessly into the landscape, facilities are modern and sophisticated. Highlights include the fabulous spa, which offers unique flotation treatments combined with therapeutic colour principles to promote healing. There is also a gallery displaying the finest jewellery, arts and crafts from the region, as well as a state-of-the-art fitness centre and wine cellar.
